

Hands up for fair pupil funding

Your child is one of over 3 million UK pupils
in an under-funded school

- Central government does not fund basic education costs and extra learning needs equally across the country. The system is flawed.
- It allocates money to local authorities for schools based on outdated, historical criteria.
- Deprived children in your county don't get all the extra funding they need, and would get, if they lived in another area.
- This affects ALL local pupils.

Parents, carers and community leaders want urgent change, as new education cuts will bankrupt more than a third of under-funded schools.
