

Giorgia Woodward

2011-2018

I studied English Language, sociology and geography at A-level. I really enjoyed these subjects, and they helped shape my decision about what to study at university. I went to the University of Gloucestershire, achieving a first class degree in Criminology and Sociology. During this, I was able to try out a whole range of new skills, from gathering forensics in a “murder house “ to working on research projects with charities to help victims of domestic abuse. I am hoping to get my dream job with West Mercia.