2011-2018

Whilst at Tudor Grange Sixth Form, I studied Drama, Media Studies and English Language A-Levels, which helped me move on to study Multimedia Journalism at The University of Salford. After an incredible three years, I achieved a First-Class Final Project and a 2:1 overall degree.

I now live and work in Manchester, where I started my career as a Multimedia Journalist for an events company, focusing on the Housing, Rail and Hydrogen sectors.

After six months, I was offered the opportunity to complete a Diploma in Digital Marketing with the same company, helping me progress to Marketing and Social Media Executive.

I now manage and construct the marketing and social strategies across different channels and social media accounts, and have the opportunity to travel across the UK to various networking events within the Housing, Rail and Hydrogen industries.
