2017-2024

I am loving my experience in Liverpool! The academic environment has been incredibly enriching introducing me to diverse topics like anthropology in communication studies, political content analysis and media discourse alongside deeper dives into A-Level topics like conglomerates, fandom theory and film analysis.

The Friday P6 lessons at Sixth Form were especially beneficial for my film analysis assessment. Although I have fond memories of Sixth Form, I'm excited about the new opportunities I'm encountering. I'm particularly thrilled to have been accepted for the United Nations Freedom of Press Conference in Brussels in 2025. This experience will allow me to engage with politicians and journalists from around the globe and hopefully build connections for a future internship at the UN.

I am incredibly thankful for the support of my media teacher whilst at Sixth Form who has played a crucial role in my development.
